Dear Colleagues:

The New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, Bureau of Early Intervention (NYC BEI) is aware that families with children receiving Early Intervention (EI) services face unique challenges in locating and accessing resources. The New York City Resource Guide for Families of Children with Disabilities or Developmental Delays: 2014 was developed to provide a comprehensive guide to community resources for parents/families of children with developmental delays and disabilities and the professionals that work with them.

In order to develop this resource guide, NYC BEI convened the Social Services Task Force. Through extensive research and a broad knowledge base, this team of local experts in community resources, identified a wide range of services, and developed guidance materials, for families with children with developmental delays and disabilities in NYC. The information includes family resources and supports that are critical to a child's ability to benefit from EI services and to make developmental progress in EI and in the early childhood years.

NYC BEI would like to recognize the Task Force members and their agencies (listed below) for their collaborative efforts in developing this document:

About the Resource Guide

This Resource Guide was developed to support families, service coordinators and service providers in meeting the needs of children with developmental delays and disabilities, and their families in the five boroughs of New York City. It was created by the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, Bureau of Early Intervention. The resources featured are the work of a broad-based partnership of local experts in community resources.

What's Inside

The Resource Guide contains information about national, New York State, and New York City agencies that provide specialized services and information for families of children with developmental delays and disabilities.

Please note that services in this Guide may require payment. Payment may range from Medicaid to insurance, sliding scale fee, or payment for service. When contacting any of the resources ask if there is a payment for services.

Chapter 1: Health, Medical and Mental Health Resources – Information about free and low-cost mental health, dental, insurance, and medical resources. This chapter also provides information about accessing the New York State Benefit Exchange and links to screening tools for Federal, State and New York City medical benefit programs.

Chapter 2: Social Service Resources – Information about agencies that provide assistance to families with social service needs such as housing, government benefits, immigration, domestic violence, food pantries and the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP).

Chapter 3: Children's Resources – Information about services specific to children including child care, recreation resources, sensory gyms, and organizations granting wishes for chronically or terminally ill children.

Chapter Four: Parent Supports and Services – Includes information for parents on getting access to services such as advocacy, financial assistance, transportation, and support groups.

Chapter Five: Parent Education and Information – Information about laws that protect the rights of children with developmental delays and disabilities, strategies for organizing documents to use for accessing different benefits, and websites that contain information frequently requested by parents for children with delays and disabilities.

How to Navigate the Resource Guide

You can navigate the Resource Guide by:

- scrolling through the entire manual based on the page numbers indicated in the table of contents,
- selecting a section from the bookmarks on the left hand side of the screen,
- searching for a particular section or topic, or
- printing out the full document.

How to Submit Corrections

Mental Health and Counseling Services

This section includes information on the different types of clinics:

Article 16 clinics: Clinics approved by the New York State Office for People with Developmental Disabilities (OPWDD) to provide long-term therapies(such as physical therapy) to people with developmental disabilities. These services are prescribed by a doctor or other medical practitioner. Services include helping people with assistive devices such as wheelchairs, hearing aids and walkers.

Article 28 clinics: Clinics that can be located either in a hospital or in a non-hospital setting. They are licensed by the New York State Department of Health. Certain Article 28 facilities are designated by the State to serve people with developmental disabilities.

Health and Hospitals Corporation (HHC): These are public health hospitals and clinics. They provide families with low-cost and free health care regardless of immigration status or ability to pay. Some offer specific services for families of children with disabilities.

Private Clinics: Privately-run facilities that serve people with developmental disabilities and delays. These facilities may also serve typically developing children and adults.

Medical Services

Homecare

This topic provides information on Homecare Services, which are crisis intervention services to help families that are having difficulty meeting their basic needs. Homecare services teach families the skills to manage their everyday responsibilities like finances and household chores. Homecare is not a babysitting service. If the family needs temporary child care, other resources such as friends, relatives, or respite care should be used.

More information on respite can be found in Chapter 3: Children's Resources: Child Care.

How can I apply for Homecare Services? If your child has Medicaid you might qualify for this service. Discuss the need for this service with your child's primary care physician. If your child is enrolled in a Medicaid managed care plan you should contact your managed care plan.

Citywide

Community Alternative Systems Agency (CASA)

Families with children who are exempt from managed care enrollment and who receive fee-for-service Medicaid can request home care through their local Community Alternative Systems Agency (CASA) office. Your child's doctor will have to complete the form M11-Q verifying that you or your child are medically eligible for these services.

New York State of Health: The Official Health Plan Marketplace

NY State of Health is an organized marketplace designed to help individuals, families, and small businesses shop for and enroll in the health insurance plan that meets their needs. This site helps individuals and small businesses compare commercial insurance options, calculate costs and select coverage online, in person, over the phone or by mail. The Exchange will also help people check their eligibility for health care programs like Medicaid and sign up for these programs if they are eligible. The Exchange will explain what type of financial assistance is available to applicants to help them afford health insurance purchased through the Exchange.

<http://www.healthbenefitexchange.ny.gov/>

Navigators are available to provide in-person enrollment assistance to individuals who would like help applying for health insurance through the Marketplace. Navigator Site locations are available here:

Housing Resources

Eviction Assistance

This topic includes agencies that offer assistance to families who are dealing with eviction.

Agencies will be able to help you faster if you know the answers to these questions before you call:

- Why you are being evicted?
 - Is this a legal eviction?
 - Have you gone to Housing Court?
- If you don't know the answer to any of these questions, you can still call for assistance.

Office for People with Developmental Disabilities (OPWDD)

The New York State Office for People With Developmental Disabilities (OPWDD) is responsible for coordinating services for more than 126,000 New Yorkers with developmental disabilities, including intellectual disabilities, cerebral palsy, Down syndrome, autism spectrum disorders, and other disabilities. It provides services directly and through a network of nonprofit service providing agencies.

Supports and services, which include Medicaid funded long-term care services such as habilitation and clinical services, as well as residential supports and services, are provided in community settings across the state. In addition to these Medicaid services, OPWDD also provides New York State-funded family support services.

Early Intervention Service Coordinators are required to discuss possible OPWDD services with parents, and with parent consent, notify OPWDD when a child is potentially eligible.

The “Access to Service Resource Booklet” which explains the OPWDD referral and eligibility process as well as services under OPWDD can be found at:

<http://www.opwdd.ny.gov/welcome-front-door/resource-booklet>

If a parent is interested in obtaining OPWDD services, the service coordinator can assist the parent in making a referral. Children must meet eligibility criteria for OPWDD. Eligibility for OPWDD and EI overlap, but are not the same.

Can My Child Receive Medication While in Child Care?

Sometimes children with disabilities require medication during the time they are in child care. By calling the Child Care Resource and Referral (CCR&R) organizations, you can find out which child care providers have gone through Medication Administration Training (MAT Training) and are permitted to administer medication to your child.

To speak to a NYS-licensed RN on staff at one of the CCR&R agencies, call:
888-469-5999 (Toll-free)

Need Help Paying for Child Care?

The Administration for Children's Services (ACS) determines a family's eligibility for subsidized child care. If you are working, or attending school or a job-training program, you may be eligible. Call 311 for information.

To request an application log onto:

http://www.nyc.gov/html/acs/html/child_care/child_care_information.shtml

Families can also use the Child Care Eligibility Wizard on the ACS website to determine if they qualify for a subsidy at:

Child Care

Recreation and Socialization

Sensory Gyms

Wish Granting Organizations

Sensory Gyms provide activities to help children with sensory processing disorders. Occupational therapists (OT) and physical therapists (PT) may provide services in sensory gyms.

Explanation of terms in this section:

Early Intervention (EI) authorization: These providers have NYS authorization to provide services to children (birth to 3 years) who have Individualized Family Service Plans (IFSPs) authorizing OT or PT.

Committee on Preschool Special Education (CPSE): These providers accept children (ages 3 to 5)who have Individual Education Plans (IEPs) authorizing OT or PT.

Related Services Authorization (RSA): For children (ages 5 to 21) receiving services through the Department of Education. When a related service is authorized, and the Department is not able to provide the service, a parent can ask for a Related Service Authorization. A parent may then look for a provider who accepts RSA to provide the service.

Private Pay: These providers accept children whose parents will pay for the service.

Utility Bills Assistance

This section gives information on national and citywide supports for all disabilities and then lists citywide support groups by disability type. It is divided into nine (9) topics including: Attention Deficit Disorder, Asperger Syndrome, Autism Spectrum Disorder, Deaf and Hard of Hearing, Developmental Disabilities and Intellectual Disabilities, Emotional Disabilities, Learning Disabilities, Rare Disorders, and Seizure Disorders.

Why are support groups important?

Support groups bring together people who are dealing with similar issues to share experiences and advice. It can be helpful to talk with or hear other people who are in the same situation. While not everyone wants or needs support beyond family and friends, you might find it helpful to speak with and ask questions of others who have similar experiences.

Disability Specific Support Groups

General

This topic includes two agencies that have information on national, state, and local organizations that provide support and information to parents of children with disabilities.

National

National Organizations Gateway NICHCY

There are many national disability organizations and publicly-funded information resource centers available. All offer detailed information in their area of disability or health expertise. You can get their website information to learn more, download publications, and find their most relevant links to other agencies, including any state and local chapters. In many cases, you can email or call for more personalized assistance. These organizations may address their work to a national audience, but they have a great deal to offer.

Parent to Parent

Parent to Parent of NYS is an organization that brings together families of people with special needs and the professionals who serve them.

- Support – Offers parents and caregivers the opportunity to connect one-to-one with a parent/ caregiver of an individual with the same or similar disability or special health care need – someone who has “been there.”
- Information & Referral – Help families locate information and services.
- Trainings – Workshop sessions are available on Understanding Medicaid Service Coordination, Record Keeping, Using a Health Care Notebook, Medicaid Waiver ,and various other topics.

Disability Specific Support Groups

Emotional Disabilities

This topic includes support groups and other services for parents of children with emotional disabilities.

How can I get a referral for psychological services?

If you would like a referral for psychological services, contact your insurance company to get a referral to an in-network child psychologist or psychiatrist so that the service will be affordable.

If you don't have health insurance, Refer to Payment for Health Services or use the NYC Health and Hospitals Corporation (HHC) network of providers for low-cost mental health services.

A list of HHC clinics can be found at Clinics Specializing in Medical Services for People with Disabilities.

Medicaid-Funded Diapers

If a child has Medicaid and is 3 or older and still in diapers due to a disability, Medicaid can pay for the diapers. A doctor fills out a prescription for diapers and the family takes the prescription to a pharmacy that accepts Medicaid. There are some companies that mail the diapers to the home.

Room to Grow

Pre-natal programs (selected referral partners) can refer families to Room to Grow. The parent visits the programs every 3 months until the child turns 3. While there the parent learns parenting skills and receives education about growth and development. They also receive free baby supplies.

Disability Rights and Laws

General

This section includes information on federal, state and NYC laws that protect the rights of children and adults with disabilities, and govern many programs for people with disabilities.

Federal

The Americans with Disabilities Act

This law provides children and adults with disabilities with reasonable accommodations in public and private programs that do not have a religious affiliation. The only valid reasons that a program can deny access is if the agency can prove that it would be an undue financial hardship; that it would fundamentally change the nature of the program; or that, even with accommodations, providing services to an individual would create a dangerous situation. Individuals with Disability Act – IDEA

The Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) is a law ensuring services to children with disabilities throughout the nation. IDEA governs how states and public agencies provide early intervention, special education and related services to more than 6.5 million eligible infants, toddlers, children and youth with disabilities. Infants and toddlers with disabilities (birth-2) and their families receive early intervention services under IDEA Part C. How to Organize Your Child's

Websites that Provide Support and Information for Families

How to Organize Your Child's Documents

General

Do you know where all of the information on your child is? Can you quickly find copies of the last Individualized Family Service Plan (IFSP)? Progress reports? Immunization records? Prescriptions for services or medications?

You have probably discovered that you have a lot of paperwork related to your child's disability and services. Organizing all of this paperwork when your child is young will help you keep track of his or her progress over time.

You can organize the paperwork in one large three-ring binder, in multiple binders by subject, in scanned documents saved in your computer, or by any other method that you are comfortable with. The method is less important than the fact that you organize your child's documents, as early as possible.

Here are some ideas on how to organize your files.

MEDICAL INFORMATION

- A cover sheet with the contact information for all of your child's doctors. Update this sheet whenever you add a specialist but never take a doctor off – you might need to ask for records someday.
- Lists of all facilities such as clinics or hospitals where your child received care, with the dates of service if possible.
- Records of all surgeries.
- Immunization records.
- Copies of medical tests such as blood work, hearing and vision. Alphabetize by specialty (ENT, GI, Pediatrician, Neurologist, etc.)
- Calendar of appointments.
- Copies of referrals to specialists.
- Medical insurance information (past and current).
- Log of all medications and dosages (indicate current or past use).

How to Organize Your Child's Documents

General

EARLY INTERVENTION INFORMATION

- A cover sheet with the agencies and contact information (include names) for all of the evaluators, therapists, and service coordinators. Include the date they started working with your child, and the date when they stopped working with your child.
- Copies of all evaluations
- Copies of all IFSPs
- Copies of all progress reports
- Copies of session notes
- Calendar of appointments and whether they were held or cancelled, and if cancelled, who cancelled it (you or the therapist)
- Questions for the next visit

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION INFORMATION (if applicable)

- Name and contact information for the Committee on Preschool Special Education (CPSE) administrator
- Copy of the referral to the CPSE
- All evaluations
- A cover sheet with the names, specialties, agencies and contact information for all of the evaluators, and therapists. Include the date they started working with your child, and the date when they stopped working with your child.
- Copies of all of the Individual Education Plans (IEPs)
- Copies of all progress reports

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

- Copies of all Explanation of Benefit forms (EOBs) from your insurance company
- Copies of insurance cards, or keep originals when new ones are issued.
- Contact information for your Social Security (SSI) representative (if applicable)
- Copies of all applications for financial benefits (if applicable)

These are just some of the categories of paperwork that you might have. You can probably think of other important information that you need to keep.
